Reflection on progress and challenges faced
During this period, the team successfully prepared and delivered the presentation for our service. We worked together to organise the presentation, refine the content, and rehearse before presenting. One challenge we faced was coordinating team members' schedules while balancing other academic commitments, but we managed to complete all planned tasks on time.

Areas for improvement in Agile approach
The team can improve by communicating more frequently, assigning tasks earlier, and holding regular progress check-ins. This will help identify issues sooner, improve collaboration, and ensure everyone completes their assigned work on time.

Summary of what I have learnt from work over these dates
I learnt the importance of teamwork, communication, and planning when working in an Agile environment.
